

I usually just draw them together in 1 footprint file.

If you need them to be separate you could have 1 footprint include the component info and draw the others as “dumb” blocks.

Let me know if this helps, I can come up with some more ideas.