

Here's my top assembly. I inserted my sub-assembly 3X .. All components are shown at this level.

If I open up my sub-assembly it has been saved with a view rep (one of the components is turned off)

Now when I make my STEP file of my top assembly, its missing the component that is turned off.

