

RESOURCES FOR ESSAY IN ENGLISH

- Prompts

In English prompts are prompts. And that's all that this application does - tells. But already this is enough to train your writing skills.

Convenient in that it can be installed on a mobile phone and train at least in the subway, even at a boring lecture.

Prompts advises where to start writing essays and how to continue. You do not know what to write about - the application tells you. You wrote the first phrase and hung - the application helps.

Prompts has over 300,000 tips with which you will forget what stupor in English is.

- Grammarly

Install Grammarly in your browser and write without errors even English posts on Facebook (also a good writing skills training), at least a resume to a foreign company.

It works like this: you write the text in English, and the application prompts the correct spelling of words. You see in which words and sentences you often make mistakes, and which words make it difficult for you to write.

- Readability-Score and Hemingway App

These two services are very similar, so choose the one that seems more convenient to you.

Ever heard of a concept like readability index? This is how your text is perceived by the reader. Sometimes reading is easy, and sometimes you read and stumble over heavy semantic constructions, rarely used words, complex definitions.

Using the readability index, you can write text on a complex topic so that the reader does not fall asleep on the first lines.

Essays For Sale - High Quality & Original

The Readability-Score and Hemingway App services help you analyze your text and conduct complete analytics: count the number of words and syllables, determine the reading time, and even analyze the mood of the story - positive, negative or neutral.

To make it easier to work on the text, the service emphasizes in too many colors too long sentences and words, cliches, search with adjectives and adverbs.

- Grammar Girl

This site is an outlet for the English-speaking Grammar Nazis. Here, in a simple form, the most complex rules are explained, in which even native speakers wander. A friendly guide to the world of grammar and punctuation saved more than one novice English essayist on the exam.

If you doubt the use of time, the correct construction of the phrase, and just get confused in the grammar - study this resource, you will surely find the answers.

- Thesaurus

This is the world's largest free online dictionary, in which it is convenient to search for synonyms for words, as well as to find definitions of the most complex words. And then your vocabulary is expanding, and writing becomes more diverse.

With this service you will understand how easier it is to express your thoughts. But be careful! Before using a word, still check its meaning! In English, synonyms cannot always be used in the same situation.

- Wordcounter

A simple site that performs one function: counts words and repetitions in your text. We wrote the text, checked it, deleted the extra words - you can send it to the teacher!

- How To Write An Essay?

The founder of the site, writer Kimberly Chapman, says that as a student she helped friends write and edit essays. She was surprised that many school graduates did not learn how to structure their narrative. She saw what questions and difficulties students had when they only received the topic of the written assignment.

Therefore, after graduating, Kimberly created a website where she collected lessons and tips on how to look for information, how to plan, how to write notes and how to write a good essay, and also provided examples of good and bad writing.

- The Easy Essay and Essay Map

These two services are a step-by-step guide to writing an essay. This is your card on which you move from start to finish. You do not need to think about the structure, just follow the steps on the site, filling out each column and answering the questions of the program.

- Today's Best — Pay for college essay

To be good at writing, you have to read a lot - a well-known formula. There are no writing exercises on this site, but there are examples of good academic writing. These are hundreds of essays from students from different countries. By searching, you can find text on the topic that you are thinking about now and see how your colleagues are revealing it.

Get your essay done with no stress — do my essay!